BEK Communications Cooperative proudly announces a significant milestone achieved by its BEK Freedom app. In just a month's time, the app has successfully shielded nearly 63,000 web threats, reinforcing its role as a guardian of digital safety for BEK Fiber internet customers.

"Our commitment to safeguarding our users' digital lives has never been stronger," says Derek Braun, Network Operations Manager for BEK Communications Cooperative. "And the achievement of blocking nearly 63,000 web threats in just one month is a testament to the fact that there are more threats than ever before."

The BEK Freedom app provides customers with complete control over every aspect of their home Wi-Fi and all connected devices. Among its numerous features, active threat protection enables users to view total threats, intrusions, and viruses blocked over time.

The app also helps users maintain network integrity by identifying all connected devices and alerting them when a new device connects, thus preventing unauthorized access.

"Our customers' security is our top priority, and the BEK Freedom app exemplifies our commitment to providing a safe and reliable internet experience," says Braun.

BEK Communications Cooperative remains dedicated to delivering top-notch internet services and innovative solutions to its customers.
