HR.com, the largest network of human resources (HR) executives, has announced the HR.com's Future of Career Development & Mobility Advisory Board 2024. This distinguished panel of industry experts will collaborate with HR.com's HR Research Institute (HRRRI) to provide comprehensive insights and practical strategies to enhance career development initiatives across organizations to ensure business success.

Their collective expertise will provide invaluable guidance and expertise for upcoming research and a virtual event exploring:

- The extent to which organizations are engaged in employee career development initiatives
- The challenges hindering career development and the outcomes of excellent career development
- Strategies, tools, and best practices related to career development
- The crucial role that career development plays in success management programs
- How to allocate resources to avoid workforce skills gaps
- The extent to which there is internal mobility in today's organizations, the factors hindering such mobility, and the role internal mobility plays in career development

The research findings from this initiative will be published in a comprehensive report offering detailed insights and recommendations. Additionally, a condensed two-page infographic will provide a quick reference for key points. The upcoming virtual event will include a day of informative sessions from a variety of subject matter experts in this area.
