Located in Brandon, FL, Brandon TMS and Psychiatry is a distinguished mental health clinic offering state-of-the-art treatments for a range of disorders, including anxiety.

Brandon TMS and Psychiatry proudly introduce TMS (Transcranial Magnetic Stimulation) treatments for anxiety disorders. This non-invasive, painless option is part of their commitment to providing innovative mental health solutions and enhancing patient wellbeing through advanced techniques.

TMS has proven highly effective for anxiety, complementing cognitive behavioral therapy and medication. This procedure, involving electromagnetic stimulation of specific brain areas, is conducted in a safe, controlled setting, minimizing any risk of adverse effects. Patients often see a significant reduction in anxiety symptoms and an overall improvement in quality of life.

The clinic caters to individuals with various anxiety disorders, including social anxiety, phobias, panic disorder, illness anxiety, PTSD, OCD, and separation anxiety, offering comprehensive diagnosis and tailored treatment plans. Additionally, they address anxiety attacks, marked by intense worry and apprehension.
