

Toronto July 22, 2024 Ontario Place Protectors' hearing in the Superior Court of Justice went all day with OPP lawyer, Eric Gillespie, presenting in the morning, and Ontario's Attorney General lawyer in the afternoon, the Honourable Justice Lisa Brownstone presiding.

Justice Brownstone requested the Crown get instructions from their 'client' to further extend their work stoppage until her decision was rendered. The government agreed to continue the stoppage until July 26th or until her decision came down, whichever came first. Justice Brownstone indicated that her decision would be rendered by the 26th. More information on the day's hearing, including OPP's factum and an excellent summary of the day's proceedings by Elsa Lam, editor of Canadian Architect is available at:
